Four Members Honored with Awards

At the IndyCREW annual virtual holiday party, four deserving members were honored with our annual awards. Pilar Cuadra with August Mack Environmental was honored with The Up and Comer Award. This award is intended to honor and recognize one IndyCREW ASSOCIATE member that has shown the traits of PARTICIPATION, NETWORKING and ENTHUSIASM for IndyCREW. Pilar is very enthusiastic about CREW and has contributed in many ways since joining in 2018! She is active on the Membership Committee and will move into the co-chair of this committee in 2021. She is a doer who does what she says she is going to do and seeks out ways to improve our organization.

Lesle Lane with Studio 13 received The Valued Partner Award. This award honors and recognizes one IndyCREW VENDOR member that has shown the traits of PARTICIPATION, NETWORKING and ENTHUSIASM for IndyCREW. This member has participated on the Membership committee since joining IndyCREW and has been a very active member. Lesle is welcoming to our new members and always leads with a smile! She lives the IndyCREW mission and is enthusiastic and always willing to help out a fellow member and has supported IndyCREW through her business, by providing professional photography services to IndyCREW.

The Donna M. Hovey Award had a tie with two dedicated members taking home this award. The award is intended to honor a member annually that best exemplifies the following traits that Donna demonstrated in spearheading the establishment of IndyCREW - Vision, Dedication to maintaining and improving the organization of IndyCREW and Enthusiasm for the commercial real estate professional. The first recipient of this award, Christa Calderone with Colliers International, has been instrumental in IndyCREW's success this year, acting as the board liaison for the Events Committee. That committee had its share of challenges in 2020 and had to quickly pivot from in-person events to virtual. Christa did a remarkable job (along with the co-chairs) continuing to provide relevant and interesting content for our membership base. In addition, she has consistently represented IndyCREW by serving as our representative to the ICBR partner organizations and represents IndyCREW in a professional way by sharing the mission of our organization. The second recipient, Jill Rose with Rowland Design, has served on the IndyCREW board in various capacities for the past several years. She exemplifies the mission of IndyCREW...to advance the success of women within commercial real estate by consistently connecting and mentoring those around her. Jill supports others by acting as a champion for them and ensuring that others are heard and receive credit for their efforts. During her tenure on the board, she was instrumental in the effort to create a formal strategic plan for IndyCREW during her presidency.

Congratulations to all of our winners!
